OLD SAFEWAY SITE SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morgan
Purchase Property As Investment

The Main Street store building adjoining the old Placerville National Bank structure has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. William C. Morgan of the Rexall drug store.

Confirming the report they had purchased the property, Mr. Morgan said Saturday morning that the site has been acquired as an investment. The structure is not vacant and Mr. Morgan indicated there may be some renovating done before the property is offered for lease.

The building was for many years occupied by the Safeway Store, which left the property early this summer to move to its new location at the junction of Main Street and Bedford Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan bought the property from Mr. and Mrs. George Foss and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, of Sacramento.

The consideration was not announced but revenue stamps affixed to the papers indicate the price was approximately $12,000.

Alcatraz Revolt Is Broken

100 Prisoners In Solitary
Cells Following Attack
On Warden Johnston

SA FRANCISCO, (UP)—One hundred kidnapers, murderers, gang leaders and other federal prisoners who have given Alcatraz Island penitentiary a fearful reputation were locked in solitary confinement today as punishment for a planned revolt against prison discipline and the United States Department of Justice.

Prison officials denied they had issued a "no work, no eat" edict in an attempt to force the strikers to return to their various prison jobs. They said, however, the strikers had all been placed in solitary confinement as punishment and to prevent any possible outbreak such as occurred yesterday when Warden James A. Johnston was slugged by an infuriated convict.

The attack occurred as the climax to the prison revolt which began early this week in protest against the strict discipline maintained at "the rock." The attacker was Burton Phillips, Wichita, Kan., life term who leaped from an inspection line and felled Johnston with his fists. Although severely beaten, the warden was reported in "much improved" condition today.

SPOONERS "PARK" IN LAKE TO TALK DEPUTIES MAKING SEARCH

ST. PAUL (UP)—Love is having a good laugh these days at the Ramsey County deputy sheriffs.

The deputies have been in the habit of breaking up moonlight trysts of couples, parked in lightless cars on dark roads in rural Ramsey County.

Knowing wary lovers are likely to flee at approach of headlights, guardians of the law darkened their cars to sneak up quietly on cooers. Always the deputies delivered a stern lecture on the evils of parking on dark highways without lights and sent the love birds along home.

But the swains and their girl friends didn't like it at all. Impelled to search for new parking places, they discovered to their delight that certain sections of sand bottom in White Bear Lake were firm enough to support a parked automobile.

So these fall nights they are spooning hub-deep in water—25 or 50 feet off shore. And the frustrated deputies, unwilling to risk a dampening, are left on the shore.

Placerville Couple Get License In Reno

Reno reports the issuance of a license to wed on Friday to George B. Fuller, 21, and Ellen B. Corder, 19, both of Placerville.

CALDOR CCC CAMP TO BE CLOSED

Enrollees Remaining To Be Moved To Grass Valley,
According To Reports

According to reports, apparently well founded, which were heard in Placerville Saturday morning, the CCC camp at Caldor is soon to be discontinued and the enrollees stationed there are to be transferred to a camp near Grass Valley.

Approximately forty of the camp's enrollment left this week for their homes, having completed their enrollment period, leaving a balance of approximately 65 men at the camp.

While the report of the transfer could not be confirmed, it was rumored that the transfer will take place sometime between October 1 and October 15.

A number of enrollees from Mosquito camp left Saturday morning for their homes, having completed their enrollment periods.

JOB INSURANCE FORMS MUST SHOW WORKER'S SECURITY NUMBER

SACRAMENTO, — California business firms which are subject to the Unemployment Reserves Act will receive a form in the next few days to be filled out showing earnings of their workers.

This announcement was made today by Samuel Leask, Jr., Santa Cruz, member of the Unemployment Reserves Commission, who said some 4,000,000 individual forms were in the mail.

The forms, DE-352A, may be made as a carbon copy of Treasury Department Form SS-2A, on which earnings for July, August and September are reported for Old Age Benefits.

Leask stressed the importance of filling out the Social Security Number of each individual employee on the quarterly earnings report form. Without the number, he pointed out, the Commission cannot pay accurate benefits, nor can the employer receive his proper merit rating, whereby his payments to the fund will be reduced in 1941.

Mrs. Beatrice Luse was a visitor Saturday morning from Georgetown.

Marcus Starbuck was a Saturday caller from the Sweetwater section.

Mr. Walter Trainor and babe are up from Sacramento to spend a few days with Grandpa and Grandma Ruple.

3 JAILED IN GRID POOL

Bunco Game Charged When Police Act As College
Football Season Opens

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—The affairs of the "Great American Football Pool, Inc., today were in the hands of police who said they had found a nationwide bunco game in which anyone could participate but nobody could win.

The pool had $3,000,000 worth of tickets to sell. During the past three weeks $2,000,000 have been collected from prospects, police said. Grand prizes, totaling $538,160 were offered.

Winner of the pool, according to Lieut. Frank H. McConnell of the police bunco detail, was to be chosen by a system of addition and multiplication.

The total football scores of colleges were to be added, then multiplied by the number of games played. The resulting figure was to be the lucky number, provided the letters on the ticket corresponded with the initials of the Pacific Coast Conference team playing in the Rose Bowl Game this year.

"There couldn't be any lucky number," Lieut. McConnell said, "because the system of arriving at it would result in a fraction."

Lieut. McConnell arrested three asserted ringleaders and charged them with conspiracy to commit grand theft.

They were Gene D'Arner, said to be head collector of the pool in this area; Charles A. Warren, 52, said to be president of the Nevada Trust and Funding Company, and Julian B. Ephriam, 54, alleged director of the pool.

McConnell said the Nevada company had announced the pool's purpose was to collect funds to build a national children's hospital in Nevada at a cost of $4,000,000.

RACE BEGINS

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—The 1937 football campaign opens today with a flourish of major games which will bring the Pacific Coast's top flight college teams into action.

Interest in the northwest centered on the University of Washington-University of Iowa intersectional battle. University of California meets St. Mary's College at Berkeley. Stanford University will play Santa Clara University.

919 CCC Enrollees In State Gain Private Employment

"Since January 1 a total of 919 Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees from 48 camps in the National Forests of California have been honorably discharged to accept work with other agencies and employers" was the report of Regional Rorester S. B. Show based on a study of enrollee employment made by the U. S. Forest Service.

"In most cases the opportunity to secure other employment came to these young men as a result of job training received in Forest Service CCC camps" Mr. Show said. "The United States Army and forestry personnel are to be commended on the vocational guidance and supervision which the enrollees have been given in California's national forests. With their CCC background youths of the Corps have a broader outlook on what is expected of them when they leave to accept other work. The boys are more physically fit and have more spirit than when they left the city streets to join the CCC. They know something about discipline and how to do an honest day's work."

Enrollees offered employment outside the CCC are given honorable discharges upon acceptance of a new job. Those who have made transfers from the CCC since the first of the year are now being employed in positions varying from service station attendants to those of much greater responsibility. Salesmanship, banking, railroading, truckdriving and scores of other trades and business callings have been taken up by enrollees.

Mrs. Dwyer reports she has checks for Irving Marks, Darrell Meyers, Betty Martin, June Parker, Edith Le Vitt, Geneva Rossi, Nellie Crosby, Arthur Williams and Barbara Hook, and that these will be mailed out at her earliest convenience.

If there are any pupils who won either a first or a second prize at the fair, whose names are not included in the above list, and who have not received their checks, they should immediately notify the school superintendent's office, Mrs. Dwyer states.

FARM BUREAU MAPS WORK

Year's Objectives Are Set
At Conference Held
On Friday Evening

Representatives of various county farm centers met at the office of the Farm Advisor on Friday evening in response to a call made by James A. Irving, county president, for a conference on the aims of the organization in the county during the ensuing year.

Mr. Irving presided at the meeting. All phases of farm center activity were discussed in the light of the program as carried out during the several years past and the general program as thus established was endorsed and several suggestions for broadening the activities of the unit were made.

In the adult division provision was made for discussions on general subjects of interest and particularly the slaughter law, the proposed unicameral legislature, and developments relative to labor relations.

The conference also suggested the names of several men prominent in the county life who might be expected to accept invitations to speak before various centers on topics of interest.

Provision was made for an active Farm Home department and for the 4-H club members to conduct at least one farm center meeting during the year.

Various sources of entertainment for center meetings were mentioned and under the head of business it was urged that the centers should develop community projects and the discussion of farm problems of current interest.

In the consideration of the program of the County Farm Bureau as a unit, a discussion of county roads, the slaughter law, the deer law and water development is suggested.

Recreation will include the county-wide picnic, a masquerade dance and party and the annual camp-fire program.

In the matter of publicity, it was urged that each center should send in notes to the Farm Advisor's office.

The conference recommended that a county farm home department be organized for an active year.

These were the features of the suggestions for broadening the program as carried on for the past several years.

Chemistry May Rout Disease

Some Progress Made Toward
Fulfilling 2,000-Year-Old
Dream Of Physicians

By HILLIER KRIEGBAUM
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—One of the fantastic dreams of doctors since Hippocrates 2,000 years ago has been to find a chemical that will eliminate disease. Give a sick man an injection containing this drug and he will be well again; it seems the ultimate goal of all medicine.

Of course no one had obtained such a drug but work being done during the past two years offers some hope that certain diseases eventually will be tamed by the use of chemicals. Eventually it may be possible for physicians to erect "chemical blockades" against infections.

Two years ago a group of German workers found that a dye known as protosil could be used against streptococcus infections. This new chemical tool gave doctors a technique to cure usually fatal cases of streptococcal infections and the pathway was opened for the development of drug treatment of several diseases against which no effective methods had previously been available.

Until this discovery in Germany, serum therapy offered puzzled physicians their only practical means of combating infections due to bacteria. Now they have another approach and with its refinement a whole new vista of treatment appears probable.

Ted Atwood was in town Saturday from Pine Grande.

Dr. Lester Rantz, William Wilkinson, Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley and the latter's father, Dr. W. Lilley, of Merced, were planning to get away on Saturday for a few days of fishing on the Rogue River.

Many Organs Lie in the Abdomen, Making Diagnosis Difficult, Says Dr. Chrisman

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

SO MANY ailments cause distress in the upper abdomen and lower part of the chest that a definite diagnosis of the source of trouble is very difficult. Quite often, only frequent physical examinations and close study of the case history combined with chemical and X-ray disclosures uncover the trouble.

DR. CHRISMAN

The stomach, liver, gall bladder, pancreas and duodenum all occupy this upper abdominal space and are closely associated. The diaphragm, or apron that separates the chest organs and those of the abdomen, is perforated with the nerves that supply these organs. Thus a pain arising from the lower lung or the heart or any of the abdominal organs may be in the upper abdomen.

Mrs. A. P. H. of Ohio, describes the problems of herself and her sister. Both suffer from similar conditions. I do not know that they live together but from her letter I presume they do. They are past middle life; normally healthy individuals till four or five years ago.

Mrs. H. describes herself as subject to nerves, considerable stomach misery and much distress from gas. Added to this, they now suffer from pressure and pain which extend up into the chest, over to the right arm, neck, head, and sometimes over the left shoulder. It is much worse after eating, particularly following some indiscretion in diet, especially regarding meat, potatoes, and starches at a heavy evening meal.

They have consulted good physicians, who assure them that their blood pressure is normal and that they have no heart disease. One physician informed the sister that her heart was all right but her pains were due to angina pectoris. Angina pectoris is all probability due to occlusion of the coronary arteries of the heart.

Mrs. H. states that her distress begins with fullness and pressure in the stomach which spreads upward. Her doctor says that her trouble is all from the stomach but she states that a nitro-glycerine tablet relieves her pain.

In former years, it was said to be due to neuralgia of the heart itself. Personally, I have felt that many cases are due to a nervous spasm of the muscular wall of the coronary arteries. Some day we may be able by X-ray to settle this question definitely.

The most frequent cause of stomach distress with the formation of gas is some irritation at the lower end of the stomach which causes a spasm of the opening and temporary obstruction. This may be due to excess acid irritation from gall stones or to gall bladder inflammation.

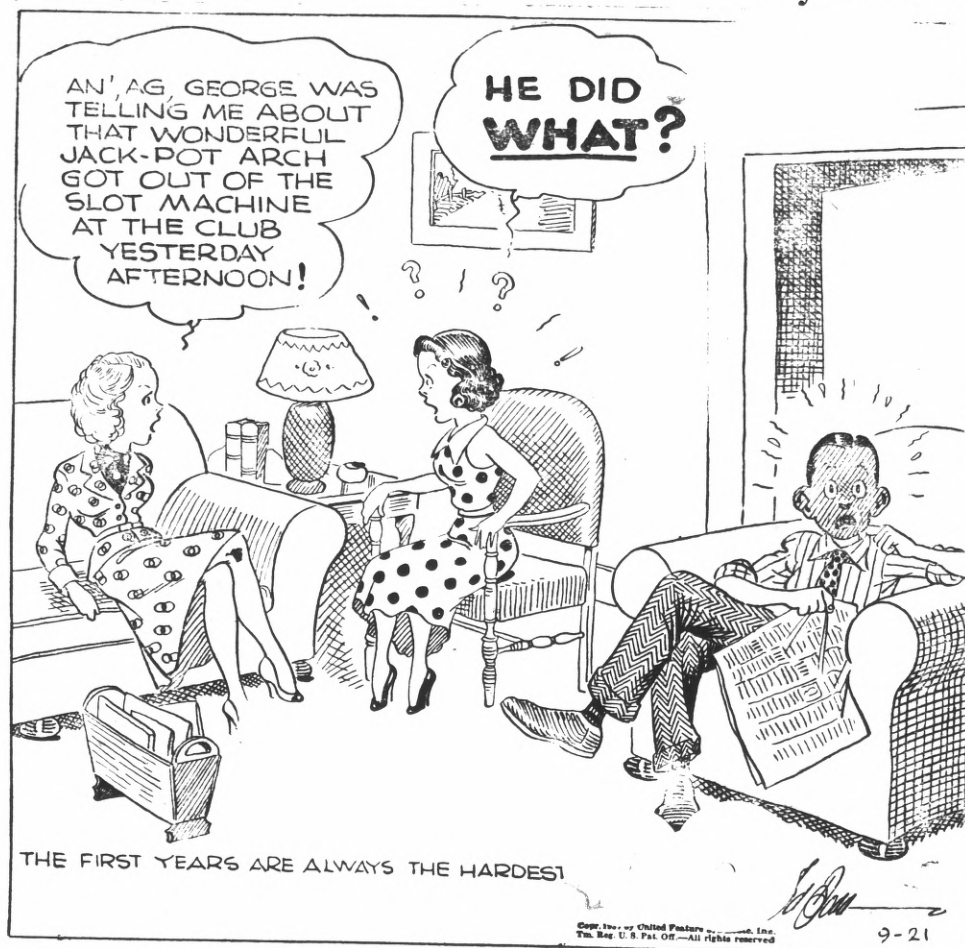

Angina is a spasm of the arterial walls. Nitro-glycerine relaxes the spasm of involuntary muscles such as those of the stomach and the arteries; and this remedy could relieve distress due to contraction of the stomach opening.

It is likely that Mrs. H. has attacks of angina but I believe they are due to irritation in the region of the stomach and gall bladder. Her pain is usually referred to the right shoulder. Gall bladder pain extends to the right side, angina is more frequently felt on the left side of the chest and the left arm.

It would pay these ladies to have X-ray examinations of gall bladder and stomach. The evidence offered indicates that the source of trouble is there. A liberal diet can be allowed, restricting fats, starches and sugars, and using plenty of vegetables and fruits. Some alkali, baking soda calcium, or sodium carbonate should be added to restrict the formation of gas and abdominal distention.

encouraged to assume the responsibilities of self-government by their new president—new at least under old Venezuelan standards—Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras, who is serving for the elective term which expires April 29, 1941.

FIRST FARM SAFETY MEET TO BE HELD OCT. 15 AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The first farm safety conference of national scope ever planned will be held here the week of October 11 to 15 during the 26th National Safety Congress and Exposition.

"Located in the heart of one of the richest agricultural districts in the entire world, Kansas City is the logical site for this first national farm safety meeting," W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council, said today.

The session on "Agricultural Safety" will be held Friday morning, October 15, in the Municipal Auditorium, with Dr. David J. Price, of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, U. S. Department of Agriculture, presiding.

J. C. Mohler, Topeka, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, will pose the question, "What Are the Outstanding Causes of Agricultural Accidents?"

A. P. Kerkes, Chicago, president of the Society of Agricultural Engineers, will speak on "Farm Machinery Accidents and Their Prevention," and W. D. James, Fort Atkinson, Wis., president of the James Manufacturing Co., will speak on "Farm Fires and Their Prevention."

C. M. Seagraves, Chicago, director of safety for the Illinois Agricultural Association, will outline "A Program for Farm Safety."

Agriculture lead all other occupations in accidental deaths in 1936 with 4,500 fatalities, according to the National Safety Council.

PACIFIC ISLAND THRIVES UNDER ADMINISTRATION OF UNCLE SAM

Far away in the Pacific is a tiny tinp tropical island where more than 1100 Americans are living, yet it was rarely mentioned before clipper airships made a base there on their flights to the Far East. This dot in the Pacific, called Guam, lies about 1,500 miles east of the Philippines, remote from the routes usually traveled by tourists, according to a release by Postmaster Joseph Scherrer.

Guam is about 30 miles long, from 8 to 4 miles wide, and has been owned by Uncle Sam since the Spanish-American War. Thousands of U. S. Marines have served there for varying periods, living amid surroundings typical of tropical islands in the far-flung Pacific.

Although unfortified, Guam's chief value to our government is as a naval base, and nearly all of its white inhabitants are attached to the naval service. Its population, including the naval establishment, is upward of 20,000, and has increased rapidly under American rule.

Marines who look forward to a Robinson Crusoe existence on the island are surprised when they learn that Guam is quite up-to-date with compulsory education, a hospital, radio and cable stations, and many of the comforts and conveniences of the mainland.

How Beauty Formerly Clad Her Daughters

OTHER-DAY BEACH BEAUTIES—Atlantic City's contest on Sept. 7-12 to choose a "Miss America for 1937," recalls styles in beauty and costumes of other days. Above are some of them. Her measurements were: Height, 5 feet 1 inch; bust, 30; waist, 25; hips, 32. Others were:

MAD AND MERRY COMEDY FEATURE FOR DAY AT EMPIRE

"It Can't Last Forever," a mad and merry comedy drama featuring Ralph Bellamy in his first comedy role, with Betty Furness and Robert Armstrong in support, heads the new screen program at the Empire Theatre Saturday only. Among the film's highlights are two currently popular tunes, "Lazy Rhythm," sung by a group of colored swingsters, and "Crazy Dreams," rendered by Barbara Burbank, a beautiful young torch-singing screen newcomer, and the Blenders, famous radio and vaudeville choral quartette.

The pounding hoofs of panting horses, the all-night popping of rifle fire, the clash of man against man in bitter fist fights, and the thrilling raid of aroused ranchers in night attack, on the guarded walls of an army barracks, provide one of the season's most gripping and worthwhile screen productions in "The Lonely Trail," which is the second feature of the one-day bill.

Up and Down Broadway

By JACK GAVER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, (UP)—Al Woods is fed up with trying to find actors to employ in two plays for which he has paid out good option money. So fed up, in fact, that he has established the Academy of Modern Acting with the idea of teaching young people that way about a stage so that they will be available for employment by him and other interested producers.

The veteran producer says that he spent a lot of time in Hollywood this summer trying to line up a cast for his two plays and couldn't even get a butler for one of them. He came back to New York and couldn't find what he wanted. The school was the result.

Woods' spokesman puts it like this:

"Mr. Woods feels that there is a wealth of talent, undiscovered and undeveloped, that needs only an opportunity, under good coaching and good direction, to bring forth the stars of tomorrow. In organizing the Academy of Modern Acting, Mr. Woods will bring the practical viewpoint of a seasoned producer (about 400 plays) to the problem of developing this untapped legion of future players. His school will get to the heart of the problem in a new way, reversing the old order of things in its teachings. Mr. Woods believes that actors can only learn to act by acting, and with this theory as his foundation, will train his students by rehearsing them in well known plays just as though they were to open on Broadway. During this period of rehearsals, the weaknesses of his students will be corrected and coaching will be directed all along these lines to bring out the best."

The school has an advisory board which fairly bristles with notable names, including Major Edward Bowes Ovi Coward, Daniel Frohman, Owen Davis, Ed Wynn, William A. Brady, and Dwight Reere Wiman.

When next summer rolls around, Mr.

Woods hopes to take his students out into the countryside for additional training before audiences in summer theatres.

Here's hoping that he gets two plays cast, come next September.

The Hollywood-to-Broadway movement, of no mean proportions this season despite what Mr. Woods says, has gained the support of Fredric March and Florence Eldridge, who happens to be his wife and is an actress of finability, even if she is not seen frequently.

They are announced to start rehearsals here November 1 on a new play by Horace Jackson entitled "The Christian Hero," based on the essays, Addison and Steele. John Cromwell, the excellent director, who is here from Hollywood to put the Theater Guild's "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle" through its paces, will direct "The Christian Hero" also.
